Product description:

Alkaline battery AgfaPhoto Power LR20

A high-performance power source for demanding and common devices - an ideal choice for large portable flashlights, emergency lights, radios, children's toys and wireless lights. Thanks to its high capacity and low internal impedance, it can maintain a stable voltage even during significant peak loads, which guarantees reliable operation throughout its service life. Minimized self-discharge allows for long-term storage without loss of performance, while the durable packaging prevents electrolyte leakage and protects your devices from damage. The practical package of two pieces gives you sufficient reserve for home, work and travel use - high-quality and affordable power supply you can rely on.
